Sightseeing Information

Panama Canal and City Adventure

Panama City, Panama

At 77 km long, the Panama Canal took 60,000,000 pounds of dynamite to create. See the nifty workings of one of the canal locks up close, then recover from seeing this mindblowing engineering feat with a nature walk, market jaunt and a stroll through UNESCO-approved district.

Duration of tour: 8 hours

oThe Tour

This Panama City walking tour will take you on a journey from the canal up into the hills, back down to the markets and to the city's historic neighbourhood. After being picked up from your hotel by your local guide, you'll begin this tour by heading to the Miraflores Locks in the legendary Panama Canal. This part of your Panama Canal tour will tell you all you need to know about this incredible feat of engineering, with help from your local guide and a tour of the museum dedicated to the Canal. Next, you'll continue your Panama City tour by taking a trip up to Cerro Ancon. This giant hill provides mesmerising panoramic views over Panama City and the Panama Canal, making it the best place in the region to look out over your surroundings. You'll then descend from the dizzy heights of Cerro Ancon and head down into a local artisan market. Here your local guide will fill you in on the market culture in Panama City, and it's a spot where you can pick up some local handicrafts. From here you'll head to Amador Causeway to take in the view of the Bridge of the Americas, grab a bite to eat, and enjoy a little nature walk on the Smithsonian owned Punta Culebra. The final part of your Panama City walking tour will be spent wandering through the old historic district of Casco Viejo, which is so beautiful that it was named a UNESCO World Heritage Site. Finally, your local guide will drop you off back at your hotel.
